Wednesday - May 8, 2019

DoubleTree Oak Brook Hotel

1909 Spring Rd., Oak Brook

7:30 am - 8:00 am Buffet Breakfast

8:00 am - 9:30 am - Program

9:30 am - 10:00 am - Q&A

From the cover of ENR to retweets on social media, the design community and construction industry is abuzz with talk about SpeedCore. This revolutionary system, currently being used on the Rainier Square Tower in Seattle, offers the promise of reducing construction time on major high rises not by weeks, but by months. This meeting will highlight the innovative solutions used by the erector in partnership with the design team in making SpeedCore a reality. The fabrication and erection methods used at Rainier Square will be presented as well as alternatives to be considered on future projects planned in Chicago. Find more information on SpeedCore here: www.aisc.org/SpeedCore

SPEAKER: Ron Klemencic is Chairman and C.E.O. of Magnusson Klemencic Associates, an award-winning, 200-person structural and civil engineering firm headquartered in Seattle, Washington, with a branch office in Chicago. He earned his B.S. in Civil Engineering from Purdue University in 1985 and his M.S. in Structural Engineering from the University of California Berkeley in 1986. Over his 30-year career, Ron has worked on projects in 24 states and 24 countries, with developments up to 650,000 m² (7 million ft²) and towers up to 112 stories. A past 5-year Chairman and current Fellow of the Council on Tall Buildings and Urban Habitat, Ron is known for his creativity, innovation, and focus on complex high-rise and mixed-use designs. Ron has led the development of the SpeedCore system, aiming to replace the reinforced concrete core in steel office-tower construction. The system is expected to take 40% less time to build than a steel frame with a reinforced concrete core.
